SUMMARY: the RHS JROTC Hawk Battalion participated in a team building exercise. During the activity the blindfolded cadets had to listen to the person commanding them, and as they were navigated through a "Minefield". As they progressed around the obstacles, cadets were led to find and manipulate multiple dice so that all upward facing numbers were the same. This activity showed how well the cadets listen and give commands as well as instilled trust between the team members. All involved found it to be a very fun game and they enjoyed doing it.
