SUMMARY: Cadets strategized a plan to retrieve certain color objects from a minefield maze using only touch commands in the quickest time. No one was allowed to speak and everyone but the driver of the group was blindfolded. Teams then moved to their objects knowing that if they touched a flat disk, they had to drop any objects they had retrieved and stay in place for a 10-second penalty. Striking a cone forced your team to drop any objects they had retrieved and leave the field to start over.
