Former Montgomery Central High School JROTC Cadet Roderick Camacho was accepted into the prestigious Virginia Military Institute (VMI) for this upcoming school year. He is shown above with his dad, CSM (Ret) Vince Camacho at Matriculation Day. Matriculation Day for VMI is a significant emotional event for matriculating cadets and their parents as it marks the initial entry into the program for the class of 2025. VMI's Army ROTC program is the largest in the country and commissions more second lieutenants than any other Army ROTC unit in the nation. Upon graduation cadets are commissioned as Second Lieutenants in the U.S. Army. We are proud that Roderick continues to work hard in reaching his goals and the Army will be getting an awesome future leader.
