

National Endowment for Financial Education (NEFE)

National Endowment for Financial Education (NEFE) Material:

- NEFE Material is ordered through the NEFE website not from the publications warehouse.

Each instructor should take a minute to register on the website so s/he has immediate access to all of the instructor materials and the ability to either order or download the Student Guides. Since 2012, the website has been the primary location for all instructor materials. Instructors also have the option to either order Student Guides as they did in the past or access the electronic versions from the HSFPF (High School Financial Planning Program) website.

<http://www.hsfpp.org/>

The following documents contain detailed instructions on how to obtain and use the NEFE program. These same documents are also available on the website.

- Instructions to register/place orders \(.pdf\)
 - Illustrated instructions on how to retrieve the lessons from the website \(.pdf\)
 - Overview of the program outcomes, format, and components \(.pdf\)
-
- The instructors are encouraged to attend face-to-face trainings or participate in live webinars to learn more about the content and steps to start using the material. In-person trainings are listed on the State Info calendar (<http://www.hsfpp.org/state-programs.aspx>). They also offer a 45-minute webinar to guide instructors through 4 Quick Start Steps (<http://www.hsfpp.org/resources/training.aspx>). In addition, they are willing to arrange a series of customized face-to-face trainings and/or webinars for JROTC instructors if that is helpful.